Morning Oregonian.

VOL. XXII.—NO. 6596 PORTLAND, OREGON, SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1882. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Growth of Mormonism Suffering no Diminution.

GENERAL ROSECRANS' STORY DENIED BY GENERAL STAGER.

Death of Ex-Governor Dennison at Columbus, Ohio—Disastrous Explosion in a Pennsylvania Coal Mine Shaft.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Prof. Edward Benner, superintendent of the Salt Lake academy, which has been established at Salt Lake City, Utah, under the auspices of the New West education commission, delivered an address last evening on the progress of the church in Utah. He said neither the Poland bill of 1882, death of Brigham Young, approach of the Union Pacific railroad, nor entrance of the commercial traveler and milliner had any effect in reducing Mormonism, but it stood and grew in the midst of them all. Mormons had increased at the rate of three thousand a year from immigration and devotion of the people to their religion. It seemed as strong as ever. Nothing had ever been able to overcome their devotion to Mormonism, and probably nothing ever would be able to reach and convert the adult population; but the children were susceptible to religious impressions by a careful and conciliatory policy. Suspicion and prejudice of Mormons against schools had been too great to overcome. About 1500 pupils were now taught in schools of which the speaker has charge. In the academy there were 250 pupils, and the remainder were educated in twelve free schools.

The Garfield-Rosecrans Affair.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Col. S. K. Hunt, of this city, who commanded the first Michigan engineer corps at Chickamauga, interviewed on the Garfield-Rosecrans controversy, says he was in a position to know what was going on at headquarters at that time, and knew the substance of many cipher dispatches passing, that Garfield may have been indiscreet, but never disloyal to his commander; that proofs are in existence to substantiate this statement; that there are officers now in the regular army who clear could Garfield's memory from aspersion, were it not for the fear of offending a "a West Point graduate," apparently meaning Gen. Rosecrans. He refused to state the nature of this evidence on the ground that it was not a proper time for it. He believes this controversy is instituted by Rosecrans' friends to put him in training for the presidency of the United States.

Rosecrans modifies his Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—General Rosecrans says to-night that the statement that General Stager had told him the true story of Garfield's interview with Stanton at Louisville was incorrect, that what he had meant to say was that Stager made a statement to Gen. Francis Darr, formerly of the regular army, now in business in New York, while the two were at West Point together a year ago, and that Darr the same night wrote me (Rosecrans) a letter giving Stager's statement in full.

General Stager again Denies.

General Stager again denies having ever said to Col. Darr what Rosecrans says Darr reported to him. Stager says the fact is, all four men who were present at the Stanton interview are dead except himself. His recollection of the interview is very clear, and Garfield made use of no such expressions as he has been accused of. Stager also remembers clearly what he said to Darr at West Point. It was in substance that Rosecrans' attack on Garfield in San Francisco was a most graceless and base one, because Garfield had been a warm and consistent friend of Rosecrans; that he had often spoken in the highest terms of Rosecrans, and that he had, in congress, delivered the only eulogy upon Rosecrans that was ever spoken; that in his opinion it was far too glowing. Stager remarked, that as he had just been appointed by Garfield a visitor to West Point, it is not probable that he would improve the first opportunity to make an open attack on Garfield, for whom he had the warmest admiration and friendship, and especially to a man, Col. Darr, whom he knew to be a devoted partisan of Gen. Rosecrans.

Decision Rendered.

NEW YORK, June 16.—In the suit of H. B. Claflin & Co., against F. McDermot and others, in the United States circuit court, decision was rendered sustaining the demurrer of the defendant. The bill was filed to set aside transfer of certain personal property made at San Francisco by Kennedy and Durr to McDermott, by means of collusive judgments and sales under executions issued thereon in the state court of California against Kennedy and Durr, upon which execution has been returned unsatisfied; by the demurrer the question is can the bill be maintained in this state. Judge Wallace says the judgment of another state has no force here save when it is derived from laws. Demurrer is sustained. Kennedy and Durr were creditors of Claflin & Co.

A Newspaper Row.

CLEVELAND, O., June 16.—The Leader is strongly anti-Catholic, and yesterday contained an editorial to which Bishop Gilmour replied by a letter which he sent by Father Houck, his private secretary, to the Leader for publication. As it did not appear in to-day's issue, Father Houck went to the office supposedly for an explanation and the manuscript. The latter, he said, contained matter personally very offensive to Mr. E. Cowles, editor-in-chief of the Leader, and when Father Houck called, Mr. Cowles, without waiting to hear the object of his visit, ordered him out, and assisted him so energetically that Father Houck swore out a warrant for his arrest for assault and battery.

Army of the Potomac Reunion.

DETROIT, June 15.—A fine day for the parade of the army of the Potomac, and was an excellent display of veterans. In the afternoon there was a prize drill between ten companies of state militia, concluding with a sham fight. Banquet this evening.

At the banquet addresses were made by ex-President Hayes, ex-Governor Blair, of Michigan, Governor Jerome, of Michigan, Major Thompson, of Detroit, General Daniel E. Sickles, General Luther S. Trowbridge, General Bragg and John Boyle O'Reilly.

Killed by an Explosion.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 16.—A terrific explosion of gas occurred in Stanton air shaft yesterday in one of the lifts, about three hundred feet from the top and four feet from the bottom. Five men were descending in a bucket with naked lamps upon their heads, which came into contact with gas and caused the explosion. James Garry was hurled from the bucket, fell to the bottom and was killed, and four others, John Welch, M. Lynch, Henry Hughes, and Edward Finnegan were badly burned. Physicians are doubtful of their recovery.

A New Mystery.

CHICAGO, June 16.—New York special: The mystery surrounding the Keely motor has now a rival in that field in Higgs' electric light, Higgs' machine for transmission of electric power, and Higgs' electric storage battery. The triple Higgs mystery is enveloped more darkly than that of Keely, for the secret of the latter is only hidden by a basement door. Higgs' mystery, however, is encompassed by Higgs' skull, and back hair, and are separated from the would-be American investigators by the width of the Atlantic ocean.

An Indian Pow-wow.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., June 15.—Gov. Ordway had a pow-wow with Kisbopek, head chief of Turtle mountain Chippewas, who, Secretary Teller holds, have no title to the country beyond the Devil's lake reservation, in the Turtle mountain region. There are only 200 of these Indians and the chief made a pathetic speech protesting against being deprived of this land, but offering to sell cheap. He expressed warm friendship for the whites. Gov. Ordway said he would present the case to Secretary Teller.

Storms in Indiana.

CINCINNATI, June 16.—A storm last night prostrated four bridges on the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Chicago R. R., between Guilford, Indiana, and Indianapolis. The Little Miami R. R. track has been under water for a short time at various points but no detention of trains is reported. The Ohio and Mississippi R. R. is running to St. Louis on schedule time. Telegraph wire on Big Four, between here and Indianapolis, is down.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Business failures of the week reported to New York, 109, against 106 last week. Eastern states had 13, western 29, southern 25, middle 20, Pacific and territories 12. New York city and Brooklyn 10. Failures in New York though numerous are not heavy.

The Cohoes Strike.

COHOES, N.Y. June 17.—One hundred and fifty women operatives, inmates of the Harmony mills boarding-house, have been notified to seek other quarters at the expiration of the time secured by rents in advance. Notices will be served of ejectment on those occupying company tenement houses. Operatives appeal for aid, and continue to meet a generous response. Provisions are distributed Mondays and Fridays, and money disbursed at all times where needed. Quiet prevails.

The Chicago Strikers.

IRONDALE, Ills., June 16.—President Jarrett did not arrive as expected this morning and the strike continues. The Calumet Iron and Steel Company, is putting up a nine-foot fence around its works and may resume with non-union men.

Major Wilder Acquitted.

MEMPHIS, June 16.—Major M. B. Wilder, formerly superintendent of the railway mail service for the southwestern division, and who was indicted here in June, 1880, for bribery in connection with the star route cases, was tried this morning in the U. S. district court and acquitted of the charge.

The superior, high armed, household sewing machine, at Garrison's sewing machine store, 167 Third street, Portland.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 15.

Joint resolution to reappropriate $375,000 to pay mail contractors for service in southern states prior to these states going into rebellion again occupied the time reserved for calendar. Maxey championed the measure.

House bonded spirits bill was again taken up as unfinished business.

Brown's amendment, declaring the act shall be construed limiting the power of congress to reduce or abolish a whisky tax, was rejected.

Question recurred upon the pending bill from senate committee. Various amendments were rejected and the bill and amendment postponed indefinitely; yeas 32, nays 20. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, June 16.

Hoar introduced a bill providing that in case of removal, resignation, inability or death of the president and vice president succession to the presidency shall fall on members of the cabinet, beginning with secretary of state and concluding with secretary of the interior, in the same order as named in Washington's cabinet, and excluding the unconfirmed cabinet officers.

POLITICAL.

Arkansas Convention.

LITTLE ROCK, June 15.—The democratic state convention was well attended. It was called to order by chairman of the state central committee Smyth.

Resolutions declare the question of fraudulent debt of $13,000,000, should at once be taken up by the party and settled according to the best interests of the state; that it is the duty of the legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to forever prohibit payment of fraudulent railroad, levee or harbor bonds; that the legislature should provide for funding the first debt. Resolutions further demand integrity in office, favor free schools, encouragement to immigration, re-affirm the platform of 1880 and thank the general government for aid to flood sufferers. After nominating many state officers convention adjourned to Friday.

Democratic Nominations.

LITTLE ROCK, June 16.—The democratic state convention this morning renominated Moore attorney general, Carroll chancellor, and Calloway chancery clerk. After several ballots for Kimball and Broshes for state land commissioner, J. I. Campbell of Augusta was nominated.

Arkansas Republicans.

LITTLE ROCK, June 16.—The republican convention reassembled at 3 o'clock. Letters were read from Messrs. Stanley and Duffee, withdrawing from the canvass for governor, and Judge J. H. Berry of Benton was nominated for that office by acclamation. Adjourned at 8 o'clock.

Gen. Sharpe's Business.

ALBANY, June 16.—Gen. Sharpe has been in the city the past two days. It is reported collecting documentary evidence in relation to the last year's senatorial contest, to sustain the statement made by him about Conkling. He is very indignant at the issue of veracity raised by the ex-senator's friends. He says he is prepared to stand by every assertion he has made, and some more of the inside history of that famous contest may appear shortly.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

CAMDEN, Ohio, June 16.—George McMullen was found yesterday with a bullet in his breast and his wife with a bullet in her head. McMullen was arrested and says the woman came into the house and did the deed.

Hanged.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—James Vaughn was hanged here this afternoon privately. A large crowd thronged the streets. Vaughn was much depressed yesterday, but recovered and ate well this morning. He murdered Wm. Watts, marshal of Tamaroa in August last.

A General Fight.

LLANO, Texas, 16.—A free fight occurred yesterday between two parties at feud with each other in which Henry Hatty was killed, John Coggans mortally wounded and Jack Coggans, Jack Harrige, Ben Carter and Shorts Wells more or less hurt. The battle was with Winchester rifles and 50 to 60 shots were fired. No arrests.

A Triple Tragedy.

JACKSON, Mich., June 16.—This afternoon a saloon keeper, F. J. Schumacher, fatally shot Policeman Schmenner, who had called to make his arrest, then mortally wounded his wife who had taken refuge on a neighbor's porch, and then lay down on his bed and killed himself.

Riddled with Lead.

PARK STATION, M. T., June 16.—Wm. Broder was called to the door of his saloon by vigilantes and riddled with bullets to-day, because his place was a resort for thieves.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Highway Robbers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Last night Andrew Potter and A. Carlson, railroad employees, were attacked by two highwaymen about a mile from here. They resisted, when the robbers opened fire on them. Both were wounded, and one of the robbers in firing at Carlson, accidentally shot his pal mortally and then fled. The wounded robber was brought here.

Supposed Suicide.

WILMINGTON, June 15.—The dead body of Capt. Charles Ainsworth, of the American bark Dublin, was found this morning near the coal sheds of the S. P. R. R. Co., at this place. From appearances life had been extinct some hours. Near him was found a small vial that had contained laudanum and a paper that was labeled arsenic, which still contained a small portion of powder. The coroner's verdict was that his death was caused by laudanum and arsenic administered by his own hand. A sum of money, watch and key were found upon his person, but no papers or message of any kind that would throw light upon cause for the deed.

Amenities of the Ball-Room.

At a ball in Paris a gentleman undertakes to introduce a companion to a young lady who seems to be pining for a dance.

"No, thanks, my dear fellow, I don't care to waltz with a cart."

A cart, be it understood, is Parisian for a partner that doesn't do her share of the dancing but has to be drawn round.

A few evenings later, the young lady, who overheard the conversation, beholds the young gentlemen seeking an introduction and asking if he may have the honor, &c.

"No, thank you," she replies sweetly; "I may be a cart but I am not a donkey cart!"

THE QUESTION SETTLED.

There's no use in arguing the question of the potency of some substances for especial service in emergencies. They will do all they promise, and more, if judiciously used. The following from Mr. P. Murphy, of No. 1 Fire Station, Ottawa, Canada, bears upon the point stated above. Mr. Murphy says: I had occasion to use St. Jacobs Oil recently, and must say that it is the best liniment I ever saw used. I caught cold from getting wet at a fire, and it settled in my shoulder and down my back to my hip. I suffered a great deal from the pain. I was advised to try St. Jacobs Oil. I did so, and after the fourth application I was entirely free from pain. I cannot speak too highly of it, and advise others to use it.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Mr. Trescott Gives his Opinion of the South American Trouble.

THE UNITED STATES SHOULD INTERFERE NOW, IF EVER.

Guiteau's Fruit Diet Destroying his Courage, and Beefsteak is Prescribed to Brace Up his Waning Courage.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—In correspondence relating to South America, sent to the senate to-day, Mr. Trescott, in his latest letter to Secretary Frelinghuysen, is considering the question of peace between Peru and Chili, and says Senor Novoa of Chili expressed his willingness to accept a preliminary agreement by which Gen. Montero, of Peru, would bind himself to submit a proposal to the national congress of such treaty as he and Novoa could agree upon, and to recognize General Montero's government. Upon execution of such an instrument this would have afforded an opportunity for the opening of negotiations, but Novoa added limitations, that if congress did not approve the treaty so submitted recognition would be withdrawn. This was simply an impossible condition. Recognition of Montero's government had to be positive. If the congress failed to approve, Chili could still prosecute the war until Peru was compelled to accept her terms, but for such a contingent recognition of the treaty before recognition in another and much more illogical and embarrassing shape, Novoa was willing to adopt another method. He would sign the treaty with General Montero if it be submitted and approved by municipalities, that is by local authorities of separate provinces. Such a method was entirely beyond General Montero's constitutional powers, and would, I think, have led to a renewal of differences between the various parties in Peru, who accepting General Montero, as a legitimate representative of the government, would acquiesce in the regular action of an executive of congress. As Senator Novoa was either indisposed or unauthorized to move out of this vicious circle, our conference terminated. I believe the reason which induces the hesitation of Chili is she believes that so long as Peruvians are convinced the United States will finally intervene, they never will negotiate in earnest. It is unquestionably true that the Peruvian government does believe the United States will intervene; at any rate they consider that the question of intervention, as one of their leading officers expressed it to me, will still be a pointing question. It is obvious that neither Chili or Peru will approach a solution of their difficulties in a proper spirit, or in any hope of a result satisfactory to both as long as this impression lasts. If the United States intends to interfere effectually to prevent disintegration of Peru the time has come when that intervention should be made, or avoided if it does not. Still more urgent is the necessity that Chili and Peru should understand exactly where the action of the United States ends. It would be entirely beyond my duty to discuss the character or consequence of either line of conduct, but I trust that you will not deem that I go beyond that duty in impressing upon the government that the present position of the United States is one of embarrassment to all belligerents; that it should be terminated as promptly as possible. There is another conviction which is clearly my duty to express. I believe that whenever the United States formally withdraws from further intervention Peru will apply to European powers, and that joint intervention of two or more is probable. It is not for me to anticipate what view the department will take of such possibility.

A Lively Tilt in Washington.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Tribune's Washington has the following: In an interview between the postmaster general, Van Wyck and Teller, when the postmaster general had concluded his catechism, the senator turned upon his questioner and said: "This accounts for the delay does it? I want to know if you intend me to understand that because I vote according to my convictions in the senate, my suggestions are to be unheeded by this administration. Is that what you mean? If it is, tell me so plainly and I will never darken your doors again. I want to know the fact so it may be made known to my constituents, that simply because of my votes in the senate their representative is to be denied all influence in the departments under this administration.

"Why," interposed Teller "that's what Hayes did for me, because I did not support his nominations."

"And," shouted the now indignant senator, "you called him a dirty sneaking loafer for it, didn't you? That's what my opinion of this administration is. If this is a specimen of its policy, how is it with your department?" addressing himself to Teller. "I want to know all about this thing. We are interested in a few land offices in our state. Am I to come and see you or stay away?"

Teller, who was leaving the room, rejoined, "Oh, come over and see about them by all means."

Turning again to the postmaster general, the irate senator continued: "So you keep spies upon us, do you; and you take the word of sneaks who violate their oath, and come here to lie about me. That's another reason why I want the executive session abandoned. I tell you there is no need of any spies upon me. All I do is open and above board, and you can know all about it by asking me." With that the senator bade the postmaster general good morning and departed.

Guiteau's Condition.

United States jail physician, Dr. Young, said Guiteau this morning was resting quietly on his bed. Recently he had been indulging in fruit to that extent he had become peaked. It had been the desire of the doctor that he should partake largely of meats that he might become strengthened physically and thereby encouraged. The doctor deems him a great coward who will show the white feather when the time comes for his execution. Guiteau at this time could be entrusted with a revolver and will not kill himself, nor by any method which costs him pain. If he could obtain poison that he knew would carry him off without suffering, he would take it, and it was therefore deemed well to watch the cell he left in the morning and the one he left in the evening, lest through some means he might secrete something of the kind, or have some other unknown means in his possession to use at the last hour. His ex-wife, Mrs. Dunmire, has sent Mrs. Scoville, of Chicago, authority to sign her name to the paper asking extension of time for Guiteau. She accompanied this permission with a letter full of forgiveness and regret at Guiteau's plight.

The President's Forgetfulness.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Times Washington special: Ex-senator Eaton of Connecticut is very indignant over the president's make-up of the tariff commission. Eaton came here two or three months ago with a view of influencing the president to select men of high character. Eaton had been identified for some time with tariff reform when senator. The president listened very carefully to everything Eaton saw fit to recommend, and told him if he would select from democratic names he would nominate them. Eaton said he would not presume to do even that much. If the president would nominate just one man selected by him it would be all he would ask. To this the president gave a ready consent. Eaton then suggested Groesbeck of Ohio, one of the best men in that state and a prominent revenue reformer. The president promised to appoint Groesbeck but apparently forgot it.

The Whisky Committee's Work.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Windom committee to-day examined Wm. T. Hobart, of Cincinnati, treasurer of the Western export association, whose testimony only corroborated President Miller's. The object of the association was to induce distillers to lessen the amount of production, and they accordingly paid all distillers a bonus who manufactured less than half the capacity of their distilleries, and paid losses of those who exported their surplus. Three million gallons were thus exported. Average loss per gallon, 17¾ cents; aggregate loss, $535,000; which the association refunded them. He knew of no money used for corruption, and knew of no congressman or newspaper man interested in whisky in bond. Wm. T. Jacobs, of Louisville, secretary of the Kentucky distillers association, showed his vouchers and accounts and testified in the same strain.

Affairs in Arizona.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Gov. Tritle of Arizona territory, returned from West Point to-day and will remain for some days. He is consulting with the president and the war department in relation to Arizona troubles and other matters bearing upon his office. He says the contingent fund of the territory is only $600, which is insufficient, and the governor has no house and not even a desk. When Gov. Fremont went out of office there was not even a blank, and he had to call on Gov. Sheldon of New Mexico, for blanks in order to conduct the business of the office. He also says there is no one willing to accept the district attorneyship for the territory, and it is the most difficult matter to find a suitable U. S. marshal. He proposes to reconstruct things there and put an end to all such troubles as have existed for the past two months.

Star Route Cases.

Bliss produced several requests for faster service in which the portions regarding expedition were written in ink different from the body of the petition. Some of these were sent the department by the senate.

In the star route trial several witnesses were examined concerning the Agate route, but testimony was not of special importance.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Queen Victoria, through Minister Lowell, has expressed pleasure at the reception of a copy of the international stamp bearing the likeness of the late President Garfield.

The ways and means committee postponed until next Tuesday action upon the question of adjournment sine die.

The President has approved sentence in the case of Lt. Flipper, sentenced to dismissal from the service.

The president appointed as government directors of the Union Pacific, Robt. H. Baker of Wisconsin, Geo. E. Spencer of Alabama, Walsh Parrish of Nebraska and Isaac H. Bromley of Connecticut.

The president approved the bill for the relief of the savings bank of Santa Rosa, Cal., providing for reimbursement of the bank of $1000 upon a duplicate check to be drawn in place of a check for that sum on the assistant treasurer at San Francisco, and lost while being sent to the Anglo-Californian bank at San Francisco.

The president has nominated Alex. R. Boteler, of West Virginia, and Wm. H. McMahon, of New York, to fill vacancies of the tariff commission. He has also nominated ex-Senator Alex. Ramsey of Minnesota, ex-Senator Paddock of Nebraska, J. G. Godfrey of Iowa, Ambrose B. Carlton of Indiana and Jas. R. Pettigrew of Arkansas to constitute the Utah commission.

Much interest is felt in the Maine campaign. It is expected the democrats will endorse the greenback nomination and a strong fight will be made, though democrats admit the chances are against them. Republicans are delighted at the result of the North Carolina convention yesterday, and say they are sure of six members from North Carolina in the next congress.

The ways and means committee have decided to hold a meeting Tuesday and talk about adjournment. Kelley hopes to get the internal revenue bill up before that date and test the sense of the house upon it. If it passes he will interpose no further objections and probably the date of adjournment may be fixed about July 15th.

Report says readjusters and republicans will hold a meeting at Richmond to consider calling a special session of the legislature and make another attempt to redistrict Virginia. Hale and others who opposed the motion so vigorously before are said now to favor it. Republicans say if it is done it will give them eight congressmen from that state.

The grand jury has been engaged for some time past in investigation of certain routes on which Monroe Salisbury, of San Francisco, is contractor. Among the routes inquired into are those from Salida to Newhall, California, Wells to Hamilton, Nevada, Fargo to Pembina, Dakota, and Helena to Missoula, Montana. Fifteen to twenty witnesses have been examined as to letting of contracts on these routes, and it is rumored that a presentment will be made against Salisbury this week.

Consular reports indicate failure of the tobacco monopoly bill in Germany will prevent a large influx of tobacco workers from that country, which would surely have occurred immediately upon passage of the bill.

Democrats are alarmed at the growing high tariff sentiment in the south, and begin to frankly admit the tariff question must be abandoned or the party look elsewhere for aid.

General Chalmers of Mississippi is here. He says if republicans make no nomination in his district he is sure of an election, and will have nothing more to do with democrats.

The talk of Rosecrans being democratic presidential candidate is considered idle. He has many vulnerable points, and the only thing in his favor will be his possible ability to carry western states.

The expected combination of independents and republicans in North Carolina will result in election of a republican senator to succeed Ransom.

It is rumored here that the president had advised Senator Cameron to take steps for calling of a new republican convention in Pennsylvania as the only way possible in which party troubles there can be arranged. This statement cannot positively be confirmed. Senator Cameron left the city to-day and it is said he has gone to New York. The president is not presumed to be taking a hand in Pennsylvania politics, and at the White House nothing is known of the rumor. The report is that the president has concluded to keep his hands out of the republican muss in New York state.

OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY.

Address to the Societies by Rev. Dr. A. L. Lindsley, and the Annual Exercises of the Alumni.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

EUGENE, June 16.

Wednesday at 10:30 A. M. came the address before the societies of the university. The speaker was the Rev. Dr. Lindsley, whose subject was "The Culture of the Imagination the Corrective of Tendencies to Materialism."

The speaker expressed high admiration for the knowledge of nature gained by modern research, and especially for the uses to which that knowledge is applied, and continued: "A great impulse, however, is thereby imparted to physical pursuits, and the spheres which are subject to the domain of the senses swell into undue proportion. There are tendencies to excess; and the outcome is not favorable to our higher progress as intellectual beings. There are realms, grand, powerful, invisible, which are beyond the reach of sense, but not of thought. But the tendency is to confine the thought to the realms of sense. This tendency should be corrected. For there can be no liberal culture, as there can be no true philosophy, without recognizing the metaphysical as well as the physical, the supernatural and the natural, the ideal and the real. The distinction lies in the structure of the mind itself, and qualifies it to expatiate over worlds which the surveyor has not measured, which does not shudder in the miner's blast, and where railway shares and town lots are not for sale. The influence of these facts is indispensable to whatever is noblest in thought and life, and the faculty which is most concerned in it is the imagination." The nature, uses and culture of this imperial faculty occupied the remainder of the address. It was shown that the most tangible of the physical sciences were greatly indebted to it; and some of them wholly started by it. A wide range of scholarship was betrayed in references to facts and authors; and the illustrations shed illumination upon the whole. The closing remarks of the address were personally addressed to the graduates.

At 2 P. M. the class tree was planted with the usual ceremonies, Prof. Chas. Lambert giving the address. The tree is a mountain hemlock from Mount Hood.

At 4 P. M. meeting of the Alumni was held. M. S. Wallis, of the class of '73, gave the introductory address and welcomed the class of '82.

Miss M. E. Sergeant, '82, made a neat and eloquent response.

Chas. F. Clarke, of '80, delivered a fine oration on "self-culture." Mr. Clarke has a good voice and pure intonation, and well deserved the applause he won.

The second Alumni poem was written by J. F. Hill, of '80, and read by E. E. Burke, of '81. The theme was "Plus Ultra." The sentiment of the poem was but a voicing of the Alumni of the University. Mr. Burke received many congratulations on his rendition of the poem.

"The Annals," by D. A. Wass, of '80, were but the "old, old story" of funny things to a very few, but the gentleman deserves credit for the labor he evidently expended in his effort.

NEW STEAMER LAUNCHED.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

ASTORIA, June 15.—The Ilwaco Steam Navigation Company's new tug, was successfully launched to-day. As she beautifully glided from the stocks Miss Gile, of Washington territory, christened her, with the usual appropriate ceremonies, the "General Miles." The engines of the tug are of 300 horse power, and were built especially for her by Pusey, Jones & Co., of Wilmington, Delaware. With ordinary steam the shaft will make from 90 to 100 revolutions per minute. The owners expect to raise steam on her next Saturday. The total cost will reach $40,000. The steamer was built for the Oregon and Washington territory coast trade, but it is now reported as likely that she will go to San Francisco in the new tug company of the Bay city, who wish to hire her for a year.

Bismarck's Vigilance.

BERLIN, June 15.—In reichstag yesterday, Bismarck replying to criticisms as to the largeness of the military budget, said the millions of bayonets maintained by Germany's neighbors pointed to the center of Europe as to a magnet. Germany might have coalition against her as in former times. He had thus far been able to frustrate such coalition, but only because the strength of Germany was known. In view, he said, of the slightly developed national feeling of our countrymen, the French do not abandon the hope of getting back Alsace and Lorraine.

Foreign Notes.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Panic in Cairo and Alexandria Rapidly Increasing.

TWO AMERICAN WAR VESSELS ORDERED TO THE EGYPTIAN COAST.

The Only Cause for Fear Said to be in the Mood of the Native Troops—Dervisch Pasha Utterly Helpless.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

LONDON, June 16.—In the house of commons, Arnold, liberal, called attention to the fact that Cookson, British consul at Alexandria, had in September informed Arabi Pasha that if the Egyptian army persisted in assuming government of the country it must be prepared to meet the united forces of the sultan and Europe, as the country could not be permitted to lapse into a state of anarchy. He asked whether the language had been approved by the government. Dilke, under foreign secretary, said it was correctly reported language it was quite right to assume, and government approved it.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, June 16.—In commons Gladstone stated England's relations with Turkey were never more friendly. He was not on the way to Egypt. A dispatch from Alexandria states the custom house has been opened.

The Panic at Alexandria.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Herald's Alexandria special: Matters are no better. Alarm is spreading to villages and all trains from the interior are crowded. Every ship in the harbor is crowded. The British admiral has chartered special steamers sent for transport. Capt. Botsheler, of the American ship Galena, is assisting all fugitives of unprotected nationalities. He has ordered Vice Consul Comanus to advise all Americans to come on board and has chartered the bark Savona expressly to afford more accommodations. Judge Farman and Judge Barringer and wife are offered all needful protection. The American government should send a special consul general to Egypt. The consul has just received an order from the sultan to go back to Cairo. His obedience is doubtful. Our Cairo correspondent wires us that there is a fearful panic there, which Arabi is doing all he can to calm. Last night an European stabbed an Arab ivory merchant and there was great excitement, but soldiers prevented a riot. The American government should send a ship to Ismailia to succor Cairo fugitives. Matters throughout the country are most alarming. Fairick and Davitch are powerless. There is a universal expression of praise for the Galena, for the succor rendered. It would be a mistake to remove this popular ship from Europe at the present moment. British subjects have been ordered to quit this city instantly. The governor of Alexandria is holding an inquiry into the last massacre. Evidence is difficult to obtain. The English admiral has buoyed the cable and the telegraph ship Chiltern has been ordered here for service in case the cable is cut on shore.

Notes from the Egyptian Trouble.

ALEXANDRIA, June 16.—The council of war has instructed troops to strictly maintain order.

Four policemen were arrested on a charge of aiding rioters Sunday.

A street quarrel yesterday caused a fresh panic but Egyptian troops suppressed the disturbance. The governor and military commandant admit they have no control over the situation, and soldiers only obey their colonel. The khedive expressed the hope that eighteen thousand Turks will be shortly on the way to Egypt. After the reception yesterday he informed the Europeans he had divided towns into districts and made an officer responsible for each. He said four hundred and thirty ring leaders in Sunday's riots had been arrested and would be placed on board a ship in the harbor.

The Turkish vessel which arrived yesterday brought Osman Bey, aid-de-camp of the sultan with instructions for Dervish Pasha.

Admiral Seymour has seized the steamer Marinzo to convey fugitives from Egypt.

Identical instructions have been sent French and English consuls and admirals in regard to protection to be afforded Europeans in Egypt. The instructions are energetic.

The British channel fleet, consisting of five large ships, sailed east from Gibraltar Thursday morning.

It is stated that the channel squadron has not gone to Alexandria but for a cruise on the north coast of Egypt.

A Conference to be Held.

PARIS, June 16.—It is semi-officially stated that all the powers have agreed to request the immediate acceptance of the conference on the Egyptian question by Turkey. Failing in her assent the conference will meet elsewhere than at Constantinople, without Turkey's participation.

Dervisch Pasha's Confidence.

ALEXANDRIA, June 16.—Dervisch Pasha expresses full confidence in the loyalty of Egyptian troops. Turkish troops, however, are ready to start for Egypt if necessary. Dervisch Pasha thinks he can settle the difficulty in a few days.

The Real Danger.

LONDON, June 16.—A correspondent of the Times at Alexandria says the real and only serious danger is from native troops, who are thoroughly in sympathy with the rabble, and will tire of guarding Europeans and take part against them. The correspondent urges immediate action. He says, directly a superior force is ready to land troops, it would have to choose between fighting and submitting. In the first case they would have to deal with invaders and foreigners, who could, in the meanwhile, hold their own against the rabble.

Troops for Egypt.

LONDON, June 16.—The troopship Tamar has sailed for Malta, taking a detachment of marines to reinforce the Mediterranean squadron. It is believed she will convey troops from Malta to Alexandria if necessary.

PARIS, June 16.—Troops at Marseilles and Toulon are ordered to make ready for immediate embarkation.

Notes from Egypt.

CAIRO, June 16.—The panic is becoming worse hourly. Shops are all closed. Some Frenchmen unable to leave are fortifying themselves in their houses. Germany and Austria oppose the dispatch of Turkish troops to Egypt on the ground it would cause a fresh outbreak.

A Complete Evacuation.

LONDON, June 17.—Private advices from Cairo state that all Europeans have left there including the staff of the Eastern Cable Co.

Our Flag Represented.

GIBRALTAR, June 16.—Rear Admiral Nicholson, with the U. S. steamers Lancaster and Quinnebaug have arrived here and will proceed to Alexandria.

General Egyptian Notes.

LONDON, June 16.—It is understood that the channel squadron will embark a large number of troops at Malta, and proceed to Egypt.

In commons Charles Dilke, under foreign secretary, said the news from Alexandria was reassuring, and no fresh disturbances were apprehended. Admiral Seymour telegraphs that the transports provided for refugees are sufficient.

The Times' correspondent at Alexandria telegraphs that 10,000 persons are supposed to have left there thus far, leaving many servants and workmen without employment. The custom house has been closed and the postmaster doubts his ability to continue postal service, owing to the probable fright of employes. The engineer at Atfeh, junction of the Mahmoudieh canal with the Nile, has threatened to quit work, which action might imperil the water supply.

A dispatch from Constantinople states that the porte has been assured that the conference will be strictly confined to discussion of the Egyptian question. Spain considers she should be represented at the conference, as the Suez canal is the shortest route to her eastern possessions.

The Number of Victims.

ALEXANDRIA, June 16.—The number of Europeans killed on Sunday is estimated at 250. Many were thrown into the sea and are being daily washed ashore. Twelve bodies yesterday and five to-day were thus recovered.

A Large Vessel.

LONDON, June 15.—The Lord Downshire, the largest sailing vessel ever constructed, sailed from Belfast a short time ago for San Francisco. She is constructed of steel, is 230 feet long and has four masts.

THE OREGON PIONEERS.

The Reunion at Salem on Thursday Last.

The pioneers of Oregon held their annual reunion at the state fair grounds on Thursday. It was quite largely attended. The procession was formed by Al. Zieber, chief marshal, with the Capital Guard band in the lead, followed by the pioneers under their different banners. The procession moved around the park once, and then entered and took their seats near the platform. After music by the band, prayer was offered by Rev. J. L. Parrish.

Hon. Medorum Crawford, president of the association, then stepped forward and delivered the following opening address:

Pioneers of Oregon: In opening the exercises of the day, I can only take time, after giving you cordial greeting and expressing my gratification in meeting you again here, where so many pleasant reunions have been held, to refer hastily to such reminiscences as pioneers are always pleased to hear and talk about.

Just thirty-six years ago to-day Great Britain relinquished her claim to Oregon, and by treaty conceded to the United States the right to the land which some of us had already taken possession of at risks unparalleled in the history of this century. This is an anniversary that should be sacred to every Oregonian, and especially to those pioneers who shared in the perils of occupation and the anxiety concerning the settlement of the title to this then disputed territory.

Nine years ago a few of the early settlers desiring to perpetuate history and incidents connected with the settlement on the Pacific coast, organized this society to promote social intercourse and collect from living witnesses facts worthy of preservation.

Annual meetings have been held and able speakers have volunteered to deliver, and furnish for publication, addresses pertaining to the general history of the country, and also the special history and incidents of each immigration from 1842 to 1848. These addresses and proceedings of our society, together with much valuable historical and biographical information contributed by the most able writers of the Pacific coast, with extracts from the journals of distinguished members of the late Hudson's Bay company, have been published in pamphlets suitable for binding, and altogether will make a volume of near seven hundred pages of interesting and valuable information, which will doubtless furnish the basis of the future history of Oregon.

This is the tenth annual reunion of our society, and I am pleased to see so many old pioneers take interest enough to congregate on the occasion which should, and I hope will, long be the pioneers' holiday.

Looking back over the forty years since I came to Oregon, a poor immigrant boy in buckskin garments, I find many of my comrades have fallen out of the ranks to rest by the wayside.

Now and then I meet some old grey beard like myself, who still lingers in the fight, unwilling to be carried to the rear, who remembers the days of boiled wheat and salmon, of pea coffee and trail rope tobacco, of wooden plows and hickory shirts—when the pony and the canoe furnished the principal means of transportation, an Indian trail the thoroughfare, with a drift log or dug-out for a ferryboat. But the ranks are thinning. Almost every day we see the announcement, "Another pioneer gone." A few years more and the earliest pioneers will be laid away, and not one in a hundred will be farther remembered or thought of than "my father" or "my mother knew him. They crossed the plains together before the gold mines were discovered in California."

Crossing the plains, going to the mines, and serving in the Cayuse war are especial episodes in the lives of the earliest pioneers, who, growing garrulous in their old age, find no end of incidents, then regarded as mere trifles, but which have been so improved by time and age as to become hairbreadth escapes, fearful privations and deeds of valor.

And indeed, looking back and contrasting the prosperity, the ease and the luxury enjoyed by the present generation, with the poverty and hardships of their ancestors, it is but natural that the trials and privations then encountered, should magnify in the minds of those whose lot it was to endure them.

To attempt to describe the changes that have taken place in our country, or pay proper tribute to the multitude of brave and generous comrades that have fallen from our ranks to their final resting places, would require more time and an abler pen than I can command. Nor is it profitable to dwell too much upon the vicissitudes of life. Let us rather contemplate the prosperous present and the promising future of our adopted home. The sun of heaven shines upon no spot of earth equal to Oregon, and whatever suffering and privation may have been endured in its settlement and reclamation from its native savages, has been amply compensated by the comforts and blessings now enjoyed.

At the close of the president's address, and after music by the band, Hon. James K. Kelly, of Portland, was introduced and delivered a very interesting address on the early pioneer life of Oregon, and also gave some very important information relative to the formation of the provisional government of Oregon. [This address will be published at a future time.—ED. OREGONIAN.]

The audience then took a recess of an hour, after which Mrs. Duniway appeared and read the occasional address on the emigration of 1849, prepared by Judge F. A. Chenoweth of Corvallis. Judge C. was himself too ill to be present. [This address we shall also publish.—ED.]

In the evening the camp fire was lighted, around which gathered those who crossed the plains in an early day and founded our present flourishing state. Many incidents of the days gone by were told and much enjoyed by the old grey haired founders of Oregon.

The exercises were pleasantly concluded with a grand ball at the pavilion, which was largely attended. The music by Varney and Bray's string band was excellent.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Hon. James W. Nesmith; vice president, Hon. J. W. Grim; recording secretary, Hon. T. B. Odeneal; corresponding secretary, Hon. W. H. Rees; treasurer, Hon. John M. Bacon; directors, Jos. Watt, E. M. Waite and F. X. Mathieu.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

A testimonial (so called) published in THE OREGONIAN, purporting to have come from Julie Rive-King, the famous pianist, and without the signature of the author, wherein she appears to now endorse the Steinway piano, demands a reply. Not only in justice to this great artist, but in justice to the famous Decker Bros. piano, which Madam King uses exclusively at all of her concerts. Perfection in the construction of a piano is the great desideratum desired by such artists as Madam King. We admit that the Steinway once sustained quite a fair reputation—purchased with money—and many were sold for first-class pianos. But, like the stage coach of ye olden time, is left behind, to give place to the elegant palace car. Messrs. Decker Bros., of New York, after forty years of untiring energy, have produced the crowning perfection in piano-fortes. So enviable is their reputation that unprincipled parties have attempted to pirate their name and counterfeit their pianos. Yes, resurrect from dusty archives feigned testimonials to support their failing business. In conclusion, suffice it to say, that that the most convincing proof of the superiority of the Decker Bros. piano is that Madam King uses none other at all of her concerts. An electrotype testimonial to Messrs. Decker Bros., bearing her autograph, will appear in a few days.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 17, 1882

THE PIONEERS.

The attendance at the pioneers' reunion at Salem was larger than could have been anticipated. Probably one thousand persons were present, including those who came and went at different times during the day. There were representatives from many counties. Of the younger generation—children and grandchildren of pioneers—there was no small number. A real interest was taken by all present.

The person would be a poor clod indeed who could see nothing of a pathetic or touching nature in these reunions. Yet a little while and they who first made this fair land their dwelling-place will be no more. Even now only a few remain to connect the present with the past—the age of hope and spirit, of adventure and romance, with the more practical and less imaginative events and transactions of the present time. It is a singular quality of our nature that as life goes on those parts of it which recede into time long past become its poetry and take firmest hold of the imagination. Disappointed in his youthful dreams, man invests this part of life with all and more than all he had seen through the medium of an early and warm imagination. His retrospect is not indeed the fulfillment of the anticipations of his early life, and perhaps in some respects is not truer; but it has a chastening and softening influence, fit for one whose life has reached its meridian, or passed it. It transports man out of himself, causes him to imagine the world as it is still to be when he shall no longer be an occupant of it, brings home to him the mystery of his own existence, and causes him to look with a reverential awe upon his own transit across the theater of life, from the unknown to the unknown.

A few men and women remain who have been residents of Oregon more than forty years. The first considerable emigration was that of 1843—thirty-nine years ago. Each year thereafter the numbers were greater or less, till 1852, when the emigration was larger than that of any year which had preceded it. Looking back from the present time the year 1852, or perhaps 1853, seems a proper limit to set to the era of the pioneers; though this until recently would have been too low a date, as perhaps it may become with advancing time too high a one. We confess, however, that the pioneers of the country have always appeared to us to be those only who came prior to the year 1849. After that year the numbers increased so fast that the romance of the movement to this distant west began to lose its charm. There was nothing so very adventurous or wonderful about the trip across the plains which so many were making. The miracle became common. It was a miracle no longer.

And yet it was a great undertaking, great and hazardous. This is seen more clearly now than it was seen then. Many fell by the way; the wonder is the number was not greater. It was a journey that tried endurance in many cases to the utmost. It often brought out all the mean and as often all the noble qualities of human nature. The country was full of Indians. The teams of oxen, the dependence for the journey, sometimes were stampeded, or more frequently became footsore or wholly perished. Danger and disease were to be met; privation and hunger were to be braved; but what of all that? Here was America's last garden of Hesperides, and how our pioneers pressed and toiled to reach this far-off land!

But who has ever found one of them saying that this land has failed to meet his utmost expectations? Our pioneers have always loved their adopted home, even as others have loved their own native lands. Never from the first day they breathed its air have they been willing to admit that there was any imperfection in it. Loyalty to Oregon is characteristic of every pioneer. The country is changing now. The era of its active development has begun. It is no longer the old Oregon of poetry and romance. An increasing activity, a necessarily selfish activity, takes the place of the old feeling of quiet and restful existence in that time when men lived for the present and not wholly for the future, and regard for the neighbor's welfare was not obliterated in a struggle for ascendancy under the doctrine of survival of the fittest, which means the devil take the hindmost. But we are not lamenting that the times and customs of the pioneers are past, never to return. There is generosity yet, and all the cardinal virtues that ever existed. But society now is more complex. The present age must work by means and methods proper to itself. Each man must act his part according to the circumstances of his own time.

Let us accord all honor to the pioneers. Let us be glad, too, to note that so many of them yet live to mark the growth of the tree they planted. To found a state is one of the greatest achievements that men, in the whole course of history, have ever had the fortune to perform. There is nothing else in history that men may be so proud to have their names connected with; and our pioneer society, through its meetings and the publication of its memoirs, is performing a duty to the men of a past generation, and doing an incalculable service to those of all future ones. Burke, in one of his profound sayings, declares that only those who look backward to their ancestors for instruction will ever look forward to the welfare of their posterity.

The game of grab from the public treasury for the construction of buildings in various parts of the country was played with a high hand a few days ago, no less than nine bills, providing for the expenditure of $2,275,000, being passed in the space of half an hour, not reckoning time occupied by Senator Lapham in resolute defense of Canandaigua's right to retain the United States court within its metropolitan limits. Favors were distributed between New York, Virginia, Kentucky, Michigan, Iowa and other states, and Mr. Saulsbury venturing to object to the cost of the Syracuse postoffice, was effectually silenced by a reminder that New Castle, Del., had got a fifteen thousand dollar building. Probably any carping senator is liable to have his mouth stopped with a similar retort. It is a game of give and take, in which nobody is allowed to complain of the share that goes to any of the participants. It is a strange illustration of how small a local consideration will blind the congressional mind to the larger interests of the whole country. Nobody nowadays seems to be ambitious for the whilom popular sobriquet of watch-dog of the treasury.

Already there is trouble in the effort to enforce the Sunday law in Ohio. The Cincinnati Gazette, the special advocate of the new laws, has the following editorial paragraph: "In the case of Andy Glaeser, the Fourth street saloon keeper, charged with violating the Sunday law, the jury Tuesday afternoon, with the law, the facts, and the lucid charge of the judge staring them in the face, disagreed. Eight of the twelve voted for acquittal. In order to give an apparent excuse for overriding the law, the question was raised among them as to whether Glaeser's place had been used as a saloon at any time between May 1st and 14th, though it was distinctly shown that beer was sold there on the latter date, and this constituted the offense for which Glaeser was tried. A stronger comment on the respect some classes of men have for an oath could not be found."

Besser and Glitner have nominated Dr. Chapman for mayor. The statement is commentary enough.

A typographical error yesterday made the vote of Lake county appear under the head of Lane county.

THE MAYORALTY.

In D. P. Thompson the city has had an efficient mayor. He has been a careful guardian of the public interests. The city government, during the time he has been at the head of it, has been honest, reputable and satisfactory. When we say it has been honest and reputable we mean all that the words can possibly imply. When we say it has been satisfactory we mean, of course, that it has been satisfactory to citizens who own property, pay taxes and have a stake in the good government of the city. It has not been satisfactory to the hoodlum class. It has disappointed municipal jobbers. It has kept at bay a gang of seekers for plunder and spoil. It has not allowed the police force to be converted into a machine, and it has kept a crowd, who could have rendered the city only questionable service, out of the places they have sought to gain. A body of professional gentlemen who make it their study to contrive ways of living off the city have not succeeded, and of course they are dissatisfied. But among those citizens who have an actual and proper right to a voice in municipal government there have been few words of complaint against the management of the city's affairs during the past three years.

Mayor Thompson has been renominated. A republican convention has presented him as a candidate for re-election. We would have preferred to support him as independent rather than as a party candidate; but whether he be called an independent, a republican or a democrat, he is a good enough mayor, and ought to be re-elected. In a city election party names go for little or nothing; and Mr. Thompson, though now presented by a republican convention, occupies a position in the administration of the city's affairs which makes him in fact an independent, and nothing else. In the convention that nominated him there was a spoils-seeking branch which withdrew and presented a candidate of their own. This nomination represents a class who want to work the mine of municipal affairs for what they suppose to be in it. Its chief support will be the irresponsible vote, led by spoils-seekers who have neither the ability nor integrity to succeed in private business, and who therefore want to take the direction of public affairs into their keeping.

The democrats have nominated no candidate for the mayoralty. Democrats as well as republicans, those who are business men, property owners and tax payers, will vote for Mr. Thompson, because they want the city government kept in safe and responsible hands. These classes of citizens will not be disposed to second the efforts of the spoils-seekers. The city is not suffering because Besser is not chief of police, nor because a syndicate of professional gentlemen who want to live riotously at its expense are reduced to the necessity of sharping and sharking in other ways for a living.

Lappens has made a good and efficient officer. There is no reason why he should be displaced. He is recognized on all sides as the most trustworthy chief of police the city ever had. What was gained some months ago when the smallpox was a grave danger here by having an efficient man in this position, instead of a mere partisan hack, all citizens well remember. Moreover Lappens has always been a positive force on the side of law and order. The people are not to consider whether others want the position or not, but simply whether it is not to their interest to keep a man of proven efficiency in it.

At last the president has found men—and good men too—to serve on the Utah commission. And now we shall see which is the stronger, the Mormon church or the United States government. The commission have a law specially designed for the job in hand, full authority to enforce it, the power of the government at their command, and the moral support of fifty millions of people. There can be but one result—polygamy will die.

The contemptuous manner in which Dr. J. A. Chapman resigned the chairmanship of the democratic state central committee in 1878, and at the same time renounced his allegiance to the party, is one of those things that come like a shadow across the path of the aspiring politician when he wants the help of his old associates and is in a position where he can't do without it.

It would seem that citizens ought not to find serious difficulty in making selection of the best men for the common council among those named for that trust. It is only necessary to set the names together for comparison.

CITY.

LOVE OF HOME.—Natural history is an interesting subject. Books upon this theme are filled with information, but the true student gains his knowledge from Nature herself. All animals have what is known as instinct, which is akin to the reasoning power of man, but in one species especially is this feature most remarkable. We speak of the diminutive class of the species known as sus scrofa, described by zoologists as a small sized pachyderm having four-toed feet, a bristly skin and a nose ending in a flattened cartilaginous disk. It is omnivorous in its habits and is possessed of a keen scent. It has also been called a pig. The love for home which it possesses is wonderful. Nearly every person has seen this charming trait in the pig. A deck load of these interesting little animals came over from East Portland on the Stark street ferry last night. Their sorrow at leaving home was touching to witness and their mournful cries were plaintive in the extreme. When the boat reached the pontoon on this side a large crowd of students of nature had assembled. The drove confidingly waddled across the pontoon but refused to take the ford across Front street. Every student started in to help drive and the hogs started back for the ferry. One man took hold of a pig's tail and then lay down in the water while the pig got out from under him and complacently walked over his back to a dry spot. Another man met a pig that was going the other way and the brilliancy of the stars that clustered the heaven at that moment could only be appreciated with the back of his head on the floor of the pontoon. The scene became lively. Everybody knew just what to do. The small boy took a hand, a pig bit one of his toes. The deck hand shut the gates of the ferry and the pigs crawled under. Women spread their skirts and yelled "whay." Two dogs got in their work by driving the pigs the wrong way. When the two men recovered, one from his bath and the other from his astronomical observations, they held a counsel of war. The forces were marshaled in a battalion at the river end of the ferry, a wild charge, and the drove was herded on the pontoon. The captain muttered a —— prayer and signaled "full speed." The boat shot out of the slip and was gone. Every time a man grabbed for a pig that cartilaginous disk was in the way and he couldn't catch on. Three of the pachyderms broke through the phalanx and started for the spot where they had left the boat. When they came up to the surface they looked disgusted. No pig likes to be deceived in that way. One struck out for the East Portland shore, another down the river, and the third was fished out of the float bridge. That spirit of trust and confidence which marked their first landing was all gone now, and when the last one was towed back from Ainsworth dock and lifted out of the water, he walked away as though he had no business in that neighborhood. Our musical critic whistled "The Heart Bowed Down," and the students of nature moved on.

TURNED INVENTOR.—Mr. A. A. Bynon, a former resident of this city, now in San Francisco, has recently patented a most ingenious device for use in primary schools to illustrate the value and use of fractions. It is simply wooden apples of large size, so constructed that they can be taken apart and show halves, quarters, thirds, fifths, tenths, etc. By separating or combining these parts all the operations in fractions are made visible to the child, and the process of teaching this difficult subject most astonishingly simplified. Like all useful inventions, it is said that the wonder is expressed that the theory had not been thought of before. The San Francisco schools have already adopted it, and a fortune will undoubtedly be made from the patent.

WILLAMETTE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.—The Willamette association of the Baptist church will convene in annual session in East Portland on Wednesday next. The Baptist church in this city have elected the following delegates to the association: Rev. John A. Gray, Wm. Hahn, H. M. Clinton, Fung Chak, D. W. Williams, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Hoyt, Mrs. Holcomb, Mrs. Dean, Capt. N. Ingersoll, Mrs. H. M. Clinton. They will report a favorable condition of the church and a large increase in the membership.

EXCURSION OF THE UNITARIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The steamer Washington will leave the foot of Morrison street promptly at 9 o'clock this morning, will touch at Vancouver, and proceed to the grounds selected, four miles above, on the Columbia, near Hexter's mill. Wild strawberries are said to abound and the surroundings are well adapted for the purpose. The Washington leaves Portland in the afternoon at 3, for her regular trip to Vancouver, and will return from the picnic ground at half past 4.

DEATH OF MINNIE MYRTLE-LOGAN.—News has reached this city of the recent death, at Elmira, N. Y., of Minnie Myrtle Miller-Logan. Mrs. Logan was a divorced wife of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras. She was on a lecturing tour in the eastern states at the time of her demise. Her death was caused by a severe cold which settled on her lungs.

FOOT CRUSHED.—Thursday afternoon while Con. O'Leary, a longshoreman, was working on the steamship dock he met with a serious accident. He was engaged with several fellow-workmen in removing some heavy timbers, when, through some accident, a beam fell upon his right foot, bruising it badly and cutting off a portion of the great toe.

OPEN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—The regular meeting will be held at Orchestral Hall on Morrison street, between Third and Fourth. There will be brief addresses by O. J. McDougal, H. M. Clinton, F. A. Henry and the Rev. Mr. Chattin, who will also favor the audience with some of his fine songs.

TO HOLD COURT.—Hon. Stephen J. Field, justice of the supreme court of the United States will leave San Francisco next Monday for Portland, where he comes to sit in the circuit court.

FREIGHT BLOCKADE.—So much freight has accumulated at the Cascades and Bonneville that the O. R. & N. Co. are obliged to refuse to receive freight until the blockade is raised.

The regular meeting of the Juvenile temperance society will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Congregational church.

By the sudden starting of the street car, on the corner of First and Main streets, yesterday, a man was thrown to the ground and stunned for a few moments, but was not seriously injured.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE HON. D. P. THOMPSON FOR MAYOR.

The Third Warders Bolt and Nominate Dr. J. A. Chapman—Democrats Resolve not to make a Nomination for Mayor.

The republican city convention which adjourned from last Wednesday, met in the county court room yesterday at 10 o'clock A. M., and was called to order by A. W. Waters, A. E. Borthwick appearing in his seat as secretary. L. Besser offered the following resolution.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that neither D. P. Thompson or any other person shall be nominated for the office of mayor that has in any manner antagonized the republican ticket within the past twelve months, either municipal county or state.

On motion of G. H. Durham, the resolution was referred to a committee of three to consider the same and report to the convention.

Besser asked Durham how much time the committee would take before making the report.

Durham said he supposed it would report to this convention before it should adjourn.

The motion was adopted and the chair appointed G. H. Durham, Donald Mackay and J. A. Strowbridge, as that committee.

G. H. Durham then moved that the convention proceed at once to the nomination of a candidate for mayor.

Besser moved that the committee be instructed to report and the convention act on the resolution before the nomination be made.

The latter motion was not seconded, and the chair declared Durham's motion in order, but upon being appealed to by Besser and others, and after some sharp words had been interchanged, at the suggestion of the chair Durham withdrew his motion for a time, and the committee retired to consider the resolution offered by Besser.

After some little time the committee returned and announced that they were unable to agree and presented majority and minority reports, as follows:

MAJORITY REPORT.

The undersigned, members of the committee to whom was referred the resolution offered by L. Besser, Esq., beg leave to submit the following majority report:

We recommend the adoption of the following as a substitute for the resolution offered by Mr. Besser:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that no person be nominated by this convention for mayor who has not been a republican for the past 15 years.

G. H. DURHAM,
D. MACKAY.

MINORITY REPORT.

To the City Republican Convention: I desire to submit, as a minority report, the resolution as offered by Mr. L. Besser. J. A. STROWBRIDGE.

Durham moved that the majority report be adopted, and that motion was carried.

Dr. Giltner then stated that he could no longer sit in this convention and retired.

Durham again moved that the convention proceed to nominate a candidate for mayor.

Besser offered a long preamble and resolution which was not read, and asked Mr. Durham to withdraw his motion in order that the convention might hear his resolution read and act upon it. The preamble gave a history of the election of delegates in the third ward; that they had instructed J. A. Strowbridge to cast the entire eleven votes of the ward for Dr. J. A. Chapman for mayor, and the resolution was that the convention ratify and confirm this action.]

Durham refused to withdraw his motion. He had already done so for one resolution, and if this thing is allowed to continue there will be no end to it.

Besser then said there was nothing for him and his associates to do but retire, and he with other delegates from the third ward left the room.

The motion to proceed to nominate was adopted, and the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot of the convention for Hon. D. P. Thompson as its unanimous choice for candidate for mayor

This motion was adopted with only one dissenting voice.

CITY COMMITTEE.

The chair then made the selection of the following persons as the city republican committee, and they were adopted: Ward S. Stevens of the 2d ward, chairman; Capt. C. C. Phillips, 1st ward, and H. Y. Thompson, 3d ward.

The convention then adjourned.

THE BOLTERS.

The delegates who retired from the republican convention, representing the third ward, proceeded to the office of the county treasurer and held a meeting. The following delegates participated in the meeting: J. A. Strowbridge, Dr. J. S. Giltner, L. H. Parsons, Henry Morgan, D. L. Jun , George Herrall, L. Besser and Daniel Reiman.

J. A. Strowbridge was elected chairman and Dr. J. A. Chapman was unanimously nominated as a candidate for mayor.

The nomination of Judge W. H. Adams as councilman from the third ward was endorsed.

The following city committee was appointed: First ward, Capt. J. A. Brown; second ward, J. M. Bower; third ward, H. Morgan.

The following delegates were appointed a committee to wait upon Dr. Chapman and inform him of his nomination: Dr. J. S. Giltner, L. H. Parsons and H. Morgan.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE DEMOCRATS.

The democratic city convention met at 1 P. M., and was called to order by R. Gerdes, chairman of the city democratic committee. Fred. R. Strong was chosen chairman, and Charles J. Christie secretary.

A committee on credentials was appointed and reported the following persons entitled to seats as delegates:

First Ward—Geo. W. Leahy, by B. L. Norden, proxy; The. Liebe, John J. Holland, by H. Multin, proxy; P. Esser, Al. Zeiber, by B. L. Norden, proxy; H. Mullen, C. J. Christie, M. Dougherty, John Barry.

Second Ward—S. Pennoyer, W. A. Scoggin, by R. E. Bybee, proxy; F. R. Strong, H. B. Nicholas, John S. Hughes, by R. E. Bybee, proxy; E. H. C. Taylor, by H. B. Nicholas, proxy; D. F. Leahy, by H. B. Nicholas, proxy.

Third Ward—E. Corbett, W. K. Smith, Jas. Wilson, by W. J. Kelly, proxy; E. F. Humason, Thos. Gale, L. Parmenter, Ed. Coles.

Report adopted.

The following committee on order of business was appointed: S. Pennoyer, R. E. Bybee, B. L. Norden, W. K. Smith and E. F. Humason, who retired and reported the following order:

1. That nominations for councilmen be made by the delegates from each ward.

2. The appointment by the chair of a city committee of three, one from each ward.

3. The adoption of the following resolution:

Whereas, In view of the recent election, and of the fact that the republican corruption fund used for the purchase of voters of the city is too large to admit of the election of any democrat, no matter how worthy the candidate may be, to any office in the gift of the voters of this city; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is deemed inexpedient by this convention to make any nomination for mayor, D. P. Thompson having been nominated by one wing of the republican party, and Dr. J. A. Chapman by the other.

Nicholas moved to amend the report by striking out the resolution and inserting a provision that we proceed to nominate a candidate for mayor.

After a long discussion on this proposition the vote was taken, and resulted in ayes 9, noes 13.

Kelly moved to strike out the nomination of councilmen. Lost; ayes 10, noes 12.

Kelly moved to lay the whole report on the table. Lost; ayes 6, noes 16.

The report was adopted as a whole. Ayes 13, noes 9.

The delegates from each ward held consultations and then reported the following nominations for councilmen:

First Ward—R. Gerdes.
Second Ward—W. A. Scoggins.

THIRD RIVE-KING CONCERT.

The sterling worth of the piano playing by Madame Rive-King is telling here. When the large audience settled down last night to the business of the evening there pervaded the house a sense of reciprocity between listeners and artists new to us in Portland. It is intended to go fully into the subject of last evening's concert in Sunday's OREGONIAN. An accurate estimate may be formed of the insinuating influence of such grand playing as we are being favored with when it is stated that after Madame King had during the evening played six solos, some of them of by no means morceaux, the audience persistently demanded yet more, and were rewarded for their pertinacity by a superb performance of Liszt's Tarantella in E flat."

Mrs. Porteous won most deserved approval and a hearty encore for her singing of "Robert, toi que j'aime." Each vocalist came in for a full share of applause, but more of them to-morrow.

The piano programme for to-night is full of musical gems. Another Beethoven sonata is announced, the "Sonata Pathetique," and three Chopin numbers. There has been such a run upon the booking list for to-night's concert that it was thought feasible to announce a matinee. This will also be fully attended. Indeed, there seems to be a realization by the public that it may be long before such playing can be heard again in this city, and that the very most should be made of the present opportunity.

Following is the programme for the

OFF ON THE BOAT TO-MORROW.

"Where?" is the question that is propounded during the day. "To the City View Park," is the answer. The place where ladies and children can go and enjoy a Sunday in the country. Boats will leave foot of Morrison street wharf, conveying ladies and children free of all charge on boat and the grounds. Grand concert at 2 P. M., and dancing afterwards. Plenty of room for lunch parties. Those that prefer it can lunch at the restaurant, there being a fine one on the grounds. Gents' tickets have been placed at $1, which includes fare on boat and grounds. Boats leave grounds at 5:30 and 7 P. M. Only twenty minutes ride from city. To the workingman of the week it is the place for himself and family to spend Sunday and enjoy a day's recreation. One visit will substantiate any of the above assertions.

MESSRS. STEINWAY & SONS—Gentlemen: Just returning as I am from an extended tour of this country and Canada, having used one of your celebrated Concert Grands during my Tournee, which embraced 136 Concerts, I cannot but express to you my unlimited admiration of the marvelous durability of your pianos, besides their matchless qualities of tone and touch. The weather, as you know, during the past season was unusually severe. For 4 weeks during our concerts in the far west the thermometer was never higher than 10 degrees below zero and at St. Paul 41 degrees below zero during my concerts there. Notwithstanding the severe test of the instrument by the elements, I used the piano almost nightly, which necessitated transportation on an average of 100 miles per day, the piano having no protection but a canvass cover. I found it always equal to the occasion, rarely requiring tuning, and during all this time not a string broke or a hammer out of order.

Will you kindly send me one of your small Grands (if possible the same one I had before) for my private use while in the city.

In the constant use of your pianos in my own home, and in all my public concerts, where I have had my own choice, I have become so accustomed to them, that I do not feel at home without them. Please accept these lines from one who prefers your pianos to all others. Yours respectfully,
JULIA RIVE-KING.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

The democratic party of the state having, in my judgment, abandoned its principles, and being no longer worthy the confidence or support of the citizens, I hereby resign my position as chairman of the democratic state central committee and renounce all further allegiance to the so-called democratic party; and believing as I do that the republican party is the true party of progress and best calculated to promote the welfare of the state and nation, it shall henceforth receive my unqualified support.

Very respectfully yours,
DR. J. A. CHAPMAN

VITALITY AND LONGEVITY.

AN EVERY DAY TALK, BY DR. C. C. STRONG

Upon the Preservation of Health. Advice that all can Understand, and Profit by Following.

At the public meeting of the Oregon State Medical society, held last evening at Orchestral Union hall, Dr. Curtis C. Strong delivered the following address:

Mr. President, members of the Oregon State Medical society, ladies and gentlemen: It is not considered in good taste for a speaker to introduce a lecture with an apology, and knowing this, of course I do not intend to commit so gross an error. I wish to say, however, that this lecture treats largely of inherency, but you will soon learn that the power of speech is not always transmitted from father to son.

At the public meeting of this society held last year, I was particularly impressed by the remarks of one of the speakers.

The idea which he intended to convey was, that the medical profession were derelict in their duty to the public in not conveying to the people, by the public press, the knowledge of all such facts as tended to prevent disease. That as the papers were the main channels which conveyed information to the people, doctors were censured for not using them.

My object therefore, in addressing you, is to disprove this by showing its opposite, that is, that the required information is furnished freely, in the full sense of that term. That the fault is due to the fact that the people do not adopt or follow the advice so generally given by medical men.

The question which interests the public mind is how to comfortably live to a good old age, and this in counter distinction, to how shall we live. Here is just the trouble: everybody wants to enjoy long life, but very few are willing to make the necessary effort to secure it.

We are all apt to put it off till it becomes impossible to shut our eyes to the fact that the system is under a great load, or some serious disease has fastened itself upon us. Instead of living so as to avoid the trouble, we go on in our evil way till sickness overtakes us, which is often only the visible expression of a long working cause; then we depend upon the doctor. We expect his skill and knowledge will enable him to avert the trouble. If he is successful in doing this, we are apt to thank nature and add as a solace this adage: "his fine constitution has pulled him through." This is manifestly wrong. We should endeavor to live so as to avoid those things which tend to shorten life; for I claim that it is easier to avoid than cure disease.

To all this you readily answer: this is just what we want the doctors to tell us, and it is just what they do not do. Instead, they seem to be making an effort to keep to themselves this valuable knowledge.

My object shall be to prove to you that we furnish all this information, and I claim that there is no profession or society of men who furnish so much valuable advice upon so important a subject, and do it so liberally and gratuitously.

The laws which are involved in longevity are inherency and the proper development of the person. The latter I shall subdivide into the case of an infant from its birth till it reaches years of discretion, and from that point till death. As, however, the rules for the latter period are only an amplification of the former, no special mention will be made of them.

By inherency is understood, that law of nature, through which we receive certain traits of character, physical qualities, and mental attributes, from our ancestors.

The importance of this can hardly be overestimated, and the subject is so extensive that I shall only be able to touch upon very few of the main points.

First, to insure healthy, vigorous offspring, it is necessary that the parents should not only be in a healthy condition, but they should have inherited a sufficient degree of vitality. Around this question are thrown so many customs of society that I am afraid I cannot approach the subject without treading so heavily upon some of them as to make trouble. What, then, constitutes a physiologically proper and healthy marriage? The answer is, that both contracting parties shall be healthy, or at least, that they shall have opposite physical conditions, so that no one tendency to disease shall exist in both. There are also a number of other conditions to be considered, such as age, consanguinity, etc., which are of great importance, but I shall only have time to treat of the first. It is now well established and beyond controversy, that certain taints or tendencies to disease are transmitted from parent to child, as that physical appearances are. It is almost an absolute certainty that consumption will have to be fought if both parents inherit a consumptive tendency, and very probable if one parent is so affected. This is true of a large number of diseases, but I have only time to take up one or two. You therefore see that it is of vital importance that two persons inheriting the tendency to consumption should not marry. It would, of course, be better that consumptives should not marry at all, but as this is impossible, and perhaps not right, care should be taken to guard against it as much as possible. Consumptively inclined persons should marry only one possessing all the physical qualities antagonistic to that disease. The only other condition there I shall take up is nervous development.

Now, two persons enjoying a high state of mental activity are apt to place considerable importance upon that condition. They therefore sacrifice everything that their children may become quick, bright boys and girls. They are therefore so educated as to have but little physical strength; body and heart are [illegible] that they may have a head.

The union of two such persons may result in several ways. The children may not have vitality enough to live, or they may not have such mental organization as can be developed to any extent, or they may have children whose mental powers shoot up with all the brilliancy of a rocket, only to go out in the darkness of imbecility or even insanity. How common it is to see these parents seeking to make such alliances for their children as they hope will keep up the [illegible] mental powers of the family. Family pride has a great deal to do with this, and they will reject with scorn the young man of fine physical powers, coupled as they often are with a healthy, active brain, to take up a puny, yellow-skinned boy, with a broad forehead and the bright eye, which too often is only the signal [illegible] before it goes out in the darkness of mediocrity.

To this entire subject you may answer, how can we help it? Young people will fall in love and marry without consulting very much the wishes of their parents, much less the doctor. I am now conscious of treading on very dangerous grounds, when I lay it down as a principle never to be broken that [illegible] should think of these things.

In other words, think of this before falling in love, for the true principle of love should be "growing," which denotes a development, rather than "falling," which denotes an accident.

You may, if you wish, compare love to a stream which, if taken in time, can be changed into its proper channel, when it will become as powerful as if left to take its course by chance, when this very power may itself become an element of destruction. Remember you have nature upon your side, as shown in the well known law that persons of opposite temperaments are apt to be drawn together, and were we more the children of nature there would be less evil following the results of our choice.

Starting from our second point, viz., a new born child, how shall we take care of it so as to increase its vital strength. In the first place, warmth and food are the two main points. Many an infant receives a check, from which it recovers but slowly if at all, in not being kept warm enough for the first few weeks after birth, and this check is often received within an hour or two of its birth. With reference to food, the trouble usually is in feeding too often and too many things. Milk is the only natural diet of an infant, and if human milk cannot be had animal milk should be reduced as nearly as possible to the human. Nor should a child be fed oftener than every two hours, and this period should be increased as the child grows older and at night. The rule generally adopted is to feed as often as the baby cries. If you do this you will surely have a weak stomach child, and therefore a cross one. The law of digestion is this: that when an article of food is introduced into the stomach the process necessary to prepare it for use in the system commences immediately. Now if a second lot is introduced before the first is disposed of, the first must wait until the second overtakes it in the digestive process, when both will start on together. If this process is repeated indefinitely, the stomach becomes weak and tired till outraged nature can stand no longer to be imposed upon, when she will act upon the belief that she cannot do it all, and therefore might as well stop now as any time.

The entire mass, soured and unfit for nutrition, is then mechanically worked through the system, generating the gas which gives rise to colic, and instead of doing good only results in harm.

As the child grows older feeding less often becomes necessary and the power to generate self-heat increases.

It is here, if at all, that physicians are to blame in not bringing this subject more forcibly to the attention of their patients.

It is necessary not only to give the family advice upon this point, but persons of intelligence should have a rational reason for all directions given.

From the time a child begins to run about and play out of doors till it takes care of itself, the same correct system should be continued. The child should be fed three times a day, and if it seems to need anything between meals, give it a regular lunch, only observing to divide the time equally between its meals. The reason for this is that the stomach must have a period of rest between each and every act of digestion.

As to what it shall eat the question in reality is a very simple one. The craving of a child's taste can in a great measure be followed, if the circumstances surrounding the child are natural.

The craving for any one thing denotes a want in the system of some element contained in that article. As, for instance, pickles or vinegar indicates a call of the system for acid. Attend to this warning immediately, but use your judgment; do not give pickles, rather supply the acid in a digestible form by giving the vegetable acids, as provided by nature in the orange, grape and other fruit. In one family I knew a child to eat only meat for the first two years after it came to the table, and it would often say "More fat," and upon receiving it place it in her mouth with all the relish which an Esquimaux seems to have for blubber.

Another one ate only potatoes for the same length of time. Both are pictures of perfect health and now take a mixed diet.

The second element needing attention is clothing, and included with this is bodily hygiene. There is vastly more error committed in this than in diet.

The present fashion of dressing children is to keep them warm in those portions of the body where nature has the greatest power, and leave unprotected the place nature has the most difficulty in keeping warm. It is unnecessary to tell how children are dressed, you all know that; I shall therefore say how they should be. The principle aimed at is this, to keep the body warm at as even a temperature as possible, by so dressing as to guard against sudden changes. In this place, where the changes are quite marked, children should wear flannel next the skin the year round. While it is not at all important that the flannel should be red, it is that it should be cut high in the neck, with long sleeves, and the drawers should come well over the ankles. All this is of equal importance to children of a larger growth, and especially women. The reasons are, that flannel does not allow of any sudden chilling of the body, and as the circulation of the extremities is not as active as in the trunk, it becomes necessary to take this extra care.

Children should be bathed in moderately cool water, care being taken never to let them get chilled after being taken out of the water,—never leave them till the body is in a warm glow. Let them sleep in a room with plenty of fresh air and see that they get plenty of sleep. Children until they get to be quite an age should retire by about 7 o'clock, and if asleep in the morning do not disturb them. A healthy child, however, is about the first one awake in the morning.

As to exercise, let them stay out of doors as much as possible, and if untrammeled, they will attend to that themselves. But young children should not be allowed to go out till it begins to get warm and should come in before the cool change for the night comes on. This applies equally well not only to very young children but to boys and girls until well through their teens. In the fall, winter and spring children should not go out till 9 or 10, and come in by 4 or 5, or even earlier if the day is particularly damp. To this rule there should be no exceptions, or at least as few as possible. Special pains should be taken to develop the muscular system, so far at least as may be necessary to give the child a fine physique. It is better to let the mental training go until after 8 or even to 12 years of age except so far as can be conveniently given by the parents at home. It would not make but little difference with the ultimate progress of the child, if they could not read until they were 8 years, although this is not necessary or best. Recognizing as we do, that the power and strength of a man comes from his mental developments, how shall we go to work to increase and improve this? We are all anxious to have smart children, but we take the wrong course to obtain this result. If you were going to build a steam yacht for speed you would first attend to what the marine architect calls the lines, that is the shape of the craft. Then you would give close attention to the engine, you would see to it that the fire box was sufficient to fill your large boiler with steam. More, there would be about as much sense in building a large boiler and have the fire box so small as not to be able to generate steam enough to fill the boiler or to work the engine properly, as is adopted by the present system of education, to develop the mental powers of the young. The entire system of education is wrong, at home and in our schools. In the first place, as I have suggested, get your boy or girl in a fit condition to receive an education.

It is a well known physiological law that you cannot develop the body and the brain equally at the same time. This is the reason for paying such attention to the former at first. Therefore develop your child's constitution; give him a stomach that can digest almost anything that may come in his way. This organ is your fire-box for generating mental power. It is the sheerest nonsense to say that they must not eat the smallest piece of cake, then to take them out evenings to parties, dressed in short dresses, with only a pair of thin stockings to protect the legs above the knees, nothing on their arms and neck, and keep them in the heated ballroom for several hours. This is straining at a gnat and swallowing the largest kind of a camel. The present system of education first commences by sending the child to school as early as the school board will allow. Perhaps this is sometimes done to get them away from home so that will be quieter. After a few years the hot house or forced growth is commenced. The child is stimulated to work hard, the number of lessons are increased, and the pressure of marks, rewards and merits brought to bear. The child comes home loaded with books, the intellectual faculties shoot out, and this is encouraged. The child gradually plays less and less, the appetite becomes fickle and changeable, the nervous system comes prominently into view, and you say, "My poor child is so very nervous." Still no one comes to the rescue and nothing is done to check the great injury, often worse than death, that is going on.

The child now reaches the critical period of its life, when it needs rest. If now it falls for a day or two the doctor is called in and asked to prescribe a tonic—next week, you know, "is examination," the child is anxious to go, the parents more so. No brake is applied, only oil is added to the fire, so as to make it burn brightly for the time. Now, throw in drawing, music, a few languages,—"it would be so nice you know to have them speak Greek, Latin, French, German, Italian and Hebrew," plenty of blackboard exercises, "so important they should manipulate crayon well—so useful you know to chalk the end of a cue," and an indefinite quantity of clerical red tape—"they might be an office holder"—and you have about the curriculum of the modern school child of ten to eighteen years of age.

What is the result of all this? Your child gets through and stands at the head of the class perhaps. It may be true it fainted a few times during examination, but then you know "he was tired and nervous, the room was hot, but that does not amount to much considering the result; is he not considered bright and smart? Give him a short rest and he will be all right." This is partly true of the boys, the outdoor life men are obliged to live enables them to outlive this, somewhat.

They now enter business with fair prospects,—nothing seems to impede them,—great things are expected of them; but do they fulfill the promise?

Is it not true that often, at thirty-five they are relatively no further advanced than at twenty-five, at forty are at a stand-still. They have reached high-water mark. After this they commence rapidly to decline, and are old broken down men at that period when a healthy man is supposed to be at his mental prime. A period which should last almost if not quite twenty years.

But how is it with your girls? A few years of society life dragged languidly through. Then comes the care of a family, with one, two, or at most three children, your girl is exhausted. A nurse becomes a necessity. This with a first-class cook loads the pay roll of a young man, just starting in life, with a heavier load than he should be required to carry. I say it after mature deliberation, with due moderation, and a full appreciation of its bearings, that I do not believe any material harm would result if every school in the land were closed for the period of ten years.

Not only are our schools to blame for this hot house system, but our homes as influence and indeed controlled by fashion and the dictates of fashionable life, blamable as aiding and abetting this method.

I have seen a list of the names of those who attended a German given in a city not far from here, in a public hall. The managers and friends intended no harm, but still it must of very necessity result in harm.

Among the names I find that of a fair young girl, the daughter of a prominent citizen, who is just as certain to be called upon to make the struggle for life with that ghostly disease consumption, as that she was there that night. Another, the name of a boy, who will never have anything near the vitality of his father. Among them are the daughters and sisters of prominent medical men.

Yet so strong is the will of society, that its influence cannot be successfully resisted. You may tell me that this is an overdrawn picture. Like the proverbial Yankee, I meet the issue by making another. Why do half the children born alive into the world, die before they are five years old, and why is it that one-third die during the first year? I know a family —I will correct myself—a man and his wife, who have had twelve children and all died as infants the oldest being a little less than six months. This is due to consumption inherited by the parents, although both were stout and apparently healthy. Can you call this fancy, can you look at our grave yards filled with short graves and still say it is all imagination. You may answer and say yes, we know this is so, we are willing to admit it, but the fault is you do not tell us how to avoid it. I answer, we do, but our advice is not followed. How many marriages between consumptives have been prevented by following the advice given by a doctor?

Few, if any. I know that in the few I have been consulted about, not one but that followed the natural course; in fact, true love never seemed to run smoother. How many parents have taken their children out of school, or even diminished the number of their studies, upon the advice of the family doctor? I feel perfectly safe in saying, not one, unless the child was seriously sick at the time. How many parents have required their children to be in the house by sunset? For your answer look into the street and see children playing out as long as you can see. Look at the number of baby carriages on the street as late as 12 o'clock at night, and when it gets too dark to see, just listen. I know that for one I have repeated these warning notes for ten years and this is equally true of many of the physicians, but what good does it do? Do you wonder we get discouraged and feel like stopping?

I have no doubt that the remarks I have made will be considered by many as too pointed, and perhaps create some feeling. For this I do not care; for it often becomes necessary for doctors to hurt their patients in order to do any good. I am aware of having made these remarks plain; I intended to do so. If they can be made so plain that the father, whose whole life is swallowed up in the whirlpool of business, can hear them, he may be made to understand that his highest duty to his family requires him to place them in the world in the best possible condition to meet its trials. If they are well developed in every particular, they will be just as able to earn their own living as he is, and this is better than gold. Therefore, I say to you, go home earlier, lock up your business in your office, and give all the time out of business hours to your family.

If anything I may have said will help any father or mother to improve the health of their family, I shall feel that I have been amply rewarded.

You will see that I have omitted technical terms. Their use would have been easy, and perhaps made this article appear more learned. But if you are obliged to carry about with you a microscope and a book on chemical analysis, I am afraid but few of us would profit by such rules.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Washington Territory.

Crops in Clarke county promise well.

Diphtheria has again made its appearance in Walla Walla.

The Dew Drop has been very busy lately removing cattle from submerged farms on Lewis river and that vicinity.

The woods of Clarke county are now full of cattle and other stock driven out of the bottoms by the rise of the Columbia.

The Vancouver flouring mills company have placed all their stock on the highest shelf to get out of the way of the flood.

The O. R. & N. Co. have built a snow fence on both sides of the Summit cut, between here and Wallula. Each fence is eight feet high and 5000 feet long.

McDonald & Schwabacher are enlarging their warehouse at the Dayton depot. When completed the dimensions of the building will be 40x100 feet, with a shed attached 30x100 feet.

The new coal mines on Green river have been pronounced superior to, and more extensive than any other mines on the coast. There are prospects that they will soon be developed and connected with Seattle by a railroad.

The Seattle Chronicle urges the building of a wagon road from that city to Yakima via Snoqualmie pass, estimating that the road would cost less than $30,000, and would be of vast benefit both to eastern and western Washington.

The income of Columbia county from all sources during the fiscal year ending May 1st, 1882, was $34,371 25. The total expenditures amounted to $33,043.12. On the 1st of May there was $11,436.29 cash on hand and an outstanding indebtedness of $7492 70. The financial condition of Columbia county may well be stated to be healthy.

WOMAN'S WISDOM.

"She insists that it is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—New Haven Palladium.

Silver bullion English standard, 925 fine, per fine ounce, 52.

EASTERN FREIGHT SITUATION.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The freight market has been a trifle more lively, and there has been freer movement in some classes of freight. The market is still far from being active, and ships mainly full of heavy goods. The Sovereign of the Seas has finished. Her cargo comprises in part 5200 cs oil, 1000 bxs candles, 22 bbls rosin, 111 bbls whisky, 33 bags coffee, 1000 kegs nails, 1234 bbls cement, 394 tons coal, 13 coils rope.

Tonnage is in full supply, and each line has succeeded in loading itself up pretty well, the latest additions being the W. R. Grace, H. Mills, Oracle and Young America. The new steamer San Jose will leave for San Francisco, via Panama, about the 24th inst.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Markets in all departments are quiet.

Lard—Quiet.

Pork—Steady.

Rio Coffee—Dull, nominal.

Refined Sugars—Light demand and easy; crushed 10⅜c.

Foreign Fruits—Quiet; London layer raisins 5@10 cents higher now, and held at $2 95@3.

Michigan Crop Reports.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Lansing special: Returns to the secretary of state from 979 townships show that wheat during May has not only maintained its condition but the latter part of the month, greatly increased its vitality. Condition June 1st in the southern four tiers of counties, which are the most fully reported, was 41 per cent better, and in the entire state 38 per cent. better than the 1st of June, 1881. Seven per cent. of the wheat and corn crops, and 5 per cent. of the oat crop is still in the farmers' hands. Planting corn has been unusually delayed by wet weather and many fields were unplanted June 1st. Acreage of corn and oats all somewhat exceed last year's. Condition of oats 93 per cent., barley 94, clover 79, timothy 84, compared with last year. Less than one-fifth the annual average of clover will be cut in Michigan this season owing to winter killing and drouth.

San Francisco Freight Situation.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Free arrivals at close last week caused a decline in freights and at a lower rate the market was comparatively active. The feature of the week has been heavy addition reported to the fleet bound to California. Included in this list are a large number of ships bound to Wilmington, which, if freights here are low, will probably be diverted to regions where tonnage bids fair to be scarce, and wheat for export in large supply. This feature is of benefit to freights, but in spite of it prospects do not favor high rates this season. At close the market is steady with fair enquiry.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Mining stocks with the exception of Robinson were very dull, it declining from $1 05 to 90c, and closing at 91c on sales of 63,200 shares. State lines 2 and 3 were fairly active at 23@28c. Chrysolite sold at $3 45@3 40; Iron silver at $1 20; Green Mountain at $2 25; South Pacific at 7c. Navajo declined from $2 75 to $2 60; and closed at $2 60. Sales for the day 166 065 shares.

Petroleum—Dull; crude, 5⅞@6⅝c; refined, 7⅝.

Copper—Steady; lake, 18¾@18⅝.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Wheat—Weak, easy; spring, $1 31 cash; $1 32 July; regular, $1 15 July; $1 06⅜ August.

Corn—Weak, lower; 69¾c cash; 70⅜ July.

Pork—Weak, lower; $20 70 cash; $20 70½ August.

Lard—Weak, lower; $1 14½ cash, August.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Wheat—Spring, $1 30 cash, $1 32½@1 33 July; regular, $1 14½ July, $1 06⅜ August.

Oats—The demand is better. Prices are firm for choice; $1 95 bid for choice Oregon. Sales of good Oregon at $1 90; No. 1 September, $1 48.

Grain bags—The market is steady. Standard size Calcuttas quoted at 9¼c sp; 9⅜c July. The inquiry for bags is very good, but buyers and sellers are apart in their views.

Salmon—Columbia river—Market quiet; jobbing rate is $1 40@1 42½. It seems impossible to effect sales of round lots at proportionate figures.

Provisions—Cala. lard ½c higher; other quotations unchanged.

Wool—Dull; unchanged.

Bran—Market unchanged and easy.

Butter—Offerings are liberal, but prices are steady owing to free packing. Quote same as before.
